Congratulations to Mrs. Fiske!

UNDERCURRENT - "the wandering Jew of GCC", the voice in the wilderness, crying out in exile - "we can't go on like this!", has finally reached the promised land!

Having completely combed every possible area which can feasibly be called "space", from the faculty coat room to the basement men's room, the staffs of Prometheus and Undercurrent had all but surrendered to despair. Then, quite unexpectedly, the possibility of an off-campus office at the Greenfield Recorder office was suggested by Mr. Al Oickle, Asst. Managing Editor of the Recorder and instructor of Journalism at GCC.

Large Audette, Undercurrent editor, and Paul Allen, managing editor of Prometheus, visited Mr. Broughan of the Recorder Monday. He generously offered a very large room which is more than adequate for our needs. The "news" room is available during regular working hours. This means that we now have a quiet, spacious, area which is available during free time between classes and on Sat. mornings, thus enabling much of the work to be done at intervals instead of at the last minute.

The office will also provide space for filing old issues of Undercurrent, for filing materials, and for lay-out work on Prometheus.

Unfortunately, all problems are not solved by the acquisition of space. We need something to fill it-equipment-especially typewriters. The Student Government Exec. Board is investigating the possibility of granting the price of an electric typewriter but the funds are low. A good electric typewriter is essential for clear, even type one the stencils. Perhaps our office will only be a place to dream about what could have been.**

CLUES MUST HAVE FINANCIAL REPORTS IN BY

FASHIONS

Norma Hornedo

It has finally happened! For the first time in fashion history, one will have the opportunity to reflect one's individual personality by selecting a wardrobe made up of a variety of fashions and fashion lengths and still be in perfect "style".

The movie, Bonnie and Clyde, has been the inspiration for a full-blast return to the styles of the 30's. Though many designers have tried to revive this look none had the impact that this movie has provided for mass revelation.

There is a combination of tough girl tailoring and ruffled silk and satin softness. The romantic fashion comeback in the form-fitting, ruffled, tucked, and body-revealing shirts worn with mini, maxi, or midi length skirts or with straight legged pants. The three lengths are defined as: mini, approx. 6" above the knee, -midi, mid-calf, and maxi-ankle length. These lengths combine the droopy look of the 30's with the legginess of the 60's.

To be "in style" implies conformity, but the secret lies in individual variation. It's what looks best on you, not how it looks on the model in the magazine. The clothes are you.

In future articles, I will go into greater detail on specific fashions. Information will be given as to color, price, and where the articles may be found.

COMMUNITY YOUTH FORUM

Paul Allen

For the past two weeks, a community youth forum has been held at the college auditorium on Sunday evenings. These forums, sponsored jointly by the college and the Council of Churches, are held with the hope of getting young people and adults to talk out their problems.

Sunday, Feb. 18, the third session in the series will be held featuring a film on drugs loaned by the Greenfield Police Dept. Paul Allen, a GCC student, will be chairman of this session, and will direct a group of teenagers who will interpret some contemporary music for the audience.

Attendance has been very good at the previous meetings and it is hoped that new people will attend Sunday night. The regular session will begin at 7:00pm in the aud. with the movies on drugs to precede it at 6:30. GCC students should find this meeting of interest to them as it affords an opportunity to air one's views to adult members of the community. The public is invited to attend. Their is no admission charge.

STUDENT CONCERTS

Publications Board of GCC will sponsor two student performing concerts this semester. Proceeds will be used for ~~scholarships~~ for publication in the next issue of Prometheus. The Editorial Staff of Undercurrent and Prometheus are not eligible.

Students interested in performing in a folk concert should contact Marc Falbo. Jug bands, groups and soloists are invited to participate.

Selections of pop, semi-classical, and classical music have been suggested for the second concert. Anyone interested in performing in this concert should contact Jerry Sears. Tentative dates can be set at the ~~concer~~ ~~time~~ when the performers providing the dates and times are available.

Exact amounts of the scholarships will depend upon amount of money which can be obtained as a result of the concerts. It is hoped that the student body will support this endeavor by participation either by performing, attending, and by submitting copy to Prometheus to compete for the awards.

ALL CLUBS, ORGANIZATIONS, AND INDIVIDUALS

WISHING PUBLICITY MUST PUT PRESS RELEASES IN THE UNDERCURRENT MAILBOX NO LATER THAN THURSDAY OF THE WEEK PRECEEDING PUBLICATION (UNLESS IT IS A CURRENT, LAST-MINUTE NOTICE) FOR PUBLICATION ON TUESDAYS.

We will send reporters to cover an event if requested, but we must be notified that the event is approaching. A weekly Club News column will be organized and those clubs not submitting news will say "no news" after their name. The students of GCC financially support the clubs and have a right to know how their money is being spent.

Notes from the Underground
by Peter Haughton

It has been recently revealed by the federal government that the human race has been found to be subversive to America. This information, which the government has been sitting on since 1959, was made public Sunday, with the hope that each American will fulfill his obligation to amend the situation.

The Johnson Spare Ribs, a psychological team from Texas, found after extensive investigation, that man's existence is a threat to the Great Society, in that they are unwilling to accept the fact that all men are not created equal, and in this ridiculous emotion, are attempting such things as equality, freedom, and other such trivia, that they somehow read into the lines of the Declaration of Independence

The government did not reveal this information until now, as they felt that they could clean up the country themselves. This, however, they have found is impossible to do in secret. Various subtle means to end the situation were used. Among these are the war in Vietnam, birth control and Lyndon Johnson.

Vietnam, it was reported, was used as a possible means of ending radicalism. The government felt that man was spending his life trying to figure out how to spend his life. Therefore the government resolved this problem by spending many of these lives. In this way, the subversive man is taken care of, and his life is not wasted-it is "spent". After all, only the ignorant "do nothings" could be so naive as to figure that they were equal to everyone else, and so all of the ignorant "do nothings" were drafted, equipped, and shot by the enemy (the government defined "ignorant do nothings" as - any voter, or person not in the government.)

The government then carefully avoided legislation allowing the use of contraceptives. This of course will soon result in a population too great for the economy to take care of, and many more poor and ignorant subversive people will starve to death (the government assures us that starvation is more painless than bullets).

Lyndon Johnson, of course, can be given credit for the poverty program, in which he has been quite active in pointing out the nation's poverty. After being portrayed on television, many of the families have been reported to have committed suicide out of embarrassment. Which brings us to the business at hand.

The federal government now requests all U.S. citizens, or persons living in the United States, to commit suicide for their country as soon as possible. The government promises all of those who comply with this request, a purple heart, a plaque on the L.B.J. Barn, and "No more world stress."

With a family of grand children on the way our president, and all of his birds, deserve a break from world tensions, so please don't think twice. Rat Poison will be provided on behalf of the government at half price...take some and be proud, you will have served your country well!

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

This Friday there will be a Ski Day at Thunder Mountain, Charlement. The price will be 1:50 per student and skiing will be from 9 to 5. Students can either bring their lunch or buy it there. With the Student Government picking up the remainder of the cost, its' a bargain for the skier.

This Sat. night, as part of the Winter Carnival Weekend, the Circle K will completely obliterate the faculty. Most of the experts are picking Mike Deppha as high scorer, and expect the Circle K to win by 20 points. Big things are also expected from Mr. DelGuidice. Last time, against the Alumni, Big Del hit for 12 points. It should be a good time for all. There is a dance following the game.

Mr. Gigley has announced plans for a Community College Basketball Tournament, to be hosted by GCC. It will be held at Turners Falls High School and a four team field will battle it out. The tournament will run for 2 nights with semi-finals, finals, and consolation matches. The exact details will be released some time this month.

GCC will travel to Worcester Tuesday night to play Quinsigamon. We have already suffered one loss to them, and this is their final game with GCC. Last Saturday night, the Barons played their toughest game with their toughest opponent and rival, Mt. Wachusetts. The Gardner Club edged us by 61-60 in the last 22 seconds.

ART EXHIBIT FEATURES PATRICIA BERNARD

Paul Alden

The latest art exhibit in the college auditorium is superb in its outward simplicity. Patricia Barnard the artist of the month has presented the community with a showing which is intelligent, sensitive, and beautiful. If one examines these paintings it becomes evident the outward muted tones are speckled here and there with brightness

ATTENTION!

THOSE WISHING TO LEARN GOOD BRIDGE;

A Bridge Club is in the process of being formed. A roster is available in Mr. Drabeck's office, Room 210, and those interested are requested to add their names to the list. "We would like to have four tables of Bridge, which means sixteen players," Mr. Drabeck said. To date, ten persons have indicated an interest.

Tentative plans call for two three hours of play, one evening per week. Hopefully, in addition, after the club is organized, college and inter-collegiate bridge tournaments will be arranged.

After a club is formed, equipment may be supplied through the Student Activities Committee, including cards and duplicating boards.

REV. ARTHUR SHAW SPEAKS ON HYPNOSIS

Jim Marshall

On Wed., Feb. 7, Rev. Arthur Shaw presented a lecture and demonstration entitled "Uses and Abuses of Hypnotism" in the College auditorium.

Rev. Shaw outlined the uses of hypnotism by doctors and dentists to overcome pain and to cure amnesia patients; and he cited a specific case in which stuttering was overcome through the use of hypnosis.

He then discussed the abuses of hypnotism cautioning, foremost, against the amateur's use of it. His warning was direct and to the point: "A person who is untrained should not dabble in hypnotism. Anyone can induce a hypnotic trance, but what happens if something goes wrong?"

Commenting on the process of hypnotism, Rev. Shaw had this to say: "Hypnosis narrows down the field of consciousness to circumscribed limits; it is like focusing the sun's rays through a magnifying glass."

The climax to the talk came when Rev. Shaw demonstrated aspects of hypnotism: a waking suggestion and trances.

The waking suggestion consisted of a demonstration in which the subject was told she would fall backwards when Rev. Shaw took his hands off her shoulders and the result was that she did fall backwards. This was an illustration of the power of suggestion.

The trances were induced on two subjects he had worked with before, and a volunteer from the audience. In all cases he established his rapport by creating a calm integrity and trust between himself and the subjects. For the subjects that he had worked with before, a suggestion to relax and a touch on the shoulder was all that was necessary to form the trance. One subject was told to awaken when he felt that five minutes had passed; and the other subject was asked to remember back to her first grade year and write her name as she did then. In both cases the results were as expected; the first subject came out of the trance in five minutes, and the second wrote her name as a first grader would have.

The lecture and demonstration was concluded by the answering of questions from the audience.

Rev. Shaw is the pastor of the First Congregational Church in Greenfield and an Assistant Fellow of the Springfield Society of Clinical Hypnosis.

ED CLUB PLANS FIELD TRIPS

The GCC Education Club held a meeting earlier this week to discuss plans for the upcoming field trips. The Ed. Club, under the direction of Mrs. Risky Case, discussed their trip to a Springfield school. The date was set for March 14.

Preliminary plans were made for a 2 day trip Boston. The Club will visit a school system in a high socioeconomic district on a Friday, and tour the activities of a Recreational League on Saturday.

The Club will hold a money raising project in the Spring under the chairmanship of Jerry Sears. A committee was formed to begin the initial planning.

There will be a meeting of tutors to be held Wed., Feb. 24, at the home of Mrs. Case. A speaker will be present. Mrs. Case reminded the group that tutors were still needed in math.

The Ed. Club voted to support the Student Council in the "Bookstore Investigation". There will be a representative present at the meeting of the Bookstore Committee Mon., Feb. 19, at 11:30 in Rm. 103.
